CARTRIDGE WITH 42,000 PATIENT NAMES IS LOST

AMBULANCE SERVICE CONFIDENT DATA FORMAT IS NOW OBSOLETE

A data cartridge containing copies of the records of almost 42,000 ambulance crew call-outs, including thousands from Northamptonshire, has been lost by East Midlands Ambulance Service (EMAS), it has revealed.

The huge data breach was discovered last week at the NHS trust's headquarters in Nottingham.

Patient records are made by ambulance crews by hand then scanned and placed on a computer system. The data is then downloaded from the computer mainframe on to a cartridge and stored in a safe.

It is believed the missing cartridge, spanning September 2012 to November 2012, was lost some time between the data being downloaded and put in the safe, which is likely to have been at the end of 2013.

The case was present, but the cartridge itself is unaccounted for.

Sue Noyes, EMAS chief executive, said: "We take our responsibility for the security and confidentiality of the information we record and store very seriously, and express sincere apologies for a patient data loss incident, which we have reported to the Information Commissioner."

"A data cartridge containing just under 42,000 electronic copies of scanned handwritten Patient Report Forms has gone missing from our Beechdale divisional headquarters in Nottingham."

"The cartridge is small and there is a possibility that it is still on our premises; we are conducting a thorough search of the building."

Mrs Noyes said she was certain the data could only be read via the specific hardware EMAS has at its premises, which is no longer in production and "obsolete".

She said it was therefore unlikely that the information could be viewed by anyone outside of the NHS trust.

But Northampton South MP Brian Binley, who was a victim of identity fraud in 2006, remained concerned by the data loss.

He warned: "It could be passed on to those people who wish to take advantage of people who have suffered illness or accident."

"We have to be careful that through this the ambulance service does not become an agent for those more unscrupulous than the majority."

People who received an ambulance response during September 2012 to November 2012, and who had their details recorded in handwriting on a paper Patient Report Form, can speak to EMAS via telephone 0115 884 5055 (8am to 8pm) if they have any serious concerns about the data loss.

True Romance: Harriet Scott was shocked by her boyfriend's proposal at The Church restaurant in Northampton.

Flashmob proposal causes tears of joy

A bride-to-be had the surprise of her life when a flashmob took over a Northampton town centre restaurant she was dining in.

Adam Hewson, from Kingsthorpe, proposed to Harriet Scott, from Barrack Road in Northampton town centre, at The Church Restaurant, in Bridge Street, in front of friends and family from across the country.

A video of the event shows Harriet, aged 23, waiting at the bar as her sister comes in singing A Thousand Years, from the hit film, Twilight.

More and more people then enter the room, creating a flashmob scene until a shocked Harriet is surrounded by her family and friends.

At the last moment, 30-year-old Adam enters, goes down on one knee and proposes to his tearful girlfriend.

Harriet said: "I know it sounds like some peoples' worst nightmare, but I absolutely loved it, I was in my element."

"We are leaving this week for a year on a round-the-world trip, so I thought the evening was going to be a goodbye meal with our parents. I even joked to Adam that they do weddings at the restaurant."

"When Adam nipped to the loo and our song started playing, I was about to start filming it on my phone, but then they all started walking in. I have never felt happiness like it."

"It was a complete surprise, it was incredible."

"I grilled Andrew later and he said he was really nervous and told me about all my sisters had done to plan the surprise, even delivering plans to everyone so I wouldn't find out through social media."

The Church manager, Alexandra Harding, said: "It was really heart-warming to see so many of them singing for one couple."

Howard is the best knight ever

A PILOT at the Northampton Balloon Festival lifted the hearts of hundreds of spectators when he proposed to his girlfriend dressed as a knight.

Howard Cusden, 50, from Peverels Way, St James, could not get a horse for the occasion, so he rode up to her on the back of a friend's truck.

Happily, Gaynor Jones, 50, loved the off-beat proposal and tearfully accepted, to the delight of the arena crowd at Billing Aquadrome on Saturday. Howard, a roofer who pilots hot air balloons in his spare time, said Gaynor always described him as her 'knight in shining armour' so he decided to oblige.

Gaynor said she was so much in shock she did not realise the proposal was being relayed to the crowd via a public address system.

BACK TO SCHOOL - WATCH YOUR BACK!

At ISIS, the chiropractors are seeing a growing number of adults coming to the clinic suffering from back pain, which stems from their childhood. Of these patients, many could have reduced their pain had the problem been addressed when they were young.

ISIS staff are genuinely concerned about local children developing back pain. A major cause of back pain is our increasingly sedentary lifestyle, but we need to be aware that children are especially vulnerable as their bones are 'soft' and still developing.

Results of recent studies revealed by the British Chiropractic Association found that:

45% of 6 to 15 year olds admitted to spending the majority of the school holidays playing computer games and watching TV.

11 year olds spend a day and a half per week watching TV and playing computer games.

72% of the nation's schoolchildren carry around heavy books and sports equipment all day on their backs.

Here are a few simple suggestions that could help prevent back pain in children, but that also apply to their parents.

School bag/hand bag choices should be based on comfort not fashion.

A Rucksack is the best option, but it should be carried over both shoulders with the straps adjusted so that the bag is held close to the back and the weight evenly distributed.

Keep it light by removing excess weight and checking you only carry essential items.

Put your best foot forward by wearing soft-soled shoes that are supportive and have a good grip.

Take regular exercise; the fitter the child (or adult) is, the less likely they are to injure themselves.

Staying still for a long time is bad for the spine, so limit time at the computer or watching TV to 40 minutes at a time. Get up and take a break and move around. When using a PC or computer console, watch your posture. Sit comfortably, with the spine properly supported.

Pain is a warning sign - do not ignore it. Contact your local ISIS Clinic.

Police staff resign for

Two special constables and two members of Northamptonshire Police staff, including one that tested positive for class A drugs, have resigned this year, latest figures showed.

From April to June this year, the Professional Standards Department (PSD) at Northamptonshire Police recorded a total of 115 public complaints and nine new internal misconduct cases.

During that period, the department formally investigated and finalised a total of 10 allegations of misconduct by six police officers and four members of police staff.

In one case, a police staff member was dismissed without notice after they were found to have provided false, misleading or inaccurate information to supervisors.

INTELLIGENCE

A police officer who misused the force intelligence system on a number of occasions for a non-policing purpose and personal gain has been given a final written warning.

Two other police officers, one of whom also misused internal inquiry Northamptonshire Police, based at Wootton Hall (above), the force intelligence system and one who neglected their duty by failing to deal with an incident properly, were given written warnings.

Other misconduct incidents included a police staff member who resigned in May after he tested positive for class A drugs.

Another police staff member who misused the force command and control systems left the force before a misconduct investigation started in June.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough & Corby areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

£3.3 million repair work for potholes

The county council is planning to use a £3.3 million Government grant to fix potholes in dozens of roads in Northampton in the next six months.

A timetable of work released by the local authority last week stated that potholes will be fixed in the Westone and Spencer areas of Northampton in September.

Repair work will then take place in the Boothville and Wootton areas of town in December, before workman move on to Kingsthorpe in February 2015.

The improvement works will be a combination of resurfacing and patching on both pavements and carriageways.

Conservative MP for Northampton North Michael Ellis, who has led a high-profile campaign to get more money to fix potholes in the county, said the announcement of the road repairs was "brilliant news".

He said: "Every one of the holes in the streets being repaired in this tranche of road improvement works is down to the successful campaign that residents of Northampton North supported.

"This is a success for thousands of residents in Northampton who live in the streets where work is being carried out."

Councillor Michael Clarke, county council cabinet member for transport, highways and environment, said: "We're absolutely delighted that this money has been made available to us and emphasises that our proactive approach to highways repairs is nationally recognised.

"This award has allowed us to bring forward a programme of area-wide improvement works, focussed within residential areas that wouldn't have been otherwise possible this year."

The county council will be contacting people in the areas where the work will take place in the days prior to it starting.

In order to do the work as quickly as possible, people will be asked to move their vehicles off roads.

CLOSING DOWN Kylie Crane (left) says roadworks have 'finished off' her business, Roobarb & Kustard

Roadworks blamed for cafe closing down

The owner of a cafe in Northampton has blamed the disruption of the ongoing work in Abington Street for a drop in trade that has resulted in her deciding to close the business.

Kylie Crane, who owns Roobarb & Kustard Ceramics Cafe, in Wellington Street, said takings had fallen by 50 per cent since the works began.

Roobarb & Kustard opened in 2008 and offers people the opportunity to design their own ceramic creations, while enjoying drinks and food from the in-store cafe.

Miss Crane said: "It can only be because of the roadworks. My takings have halved since they started in June, with people cancelling bookings and commenting on the noise and dust. I am disgusted at how the council has taken no responsibility. These are people's livelihoods they are damaging. We were originally told the Abington Street works wouldn't stretch up Wellington Street, so I was quite shocked when they started on June 23. Then I was told they would only be here for three weeks and that was two months ago."

Miss Crane, a mother of two, said access to the shop was so badly affected recently, it could only be entered through the premises next door: "I almost cried when I couldn't access my own shop with my stock and had to get a builder to open a barrier for me.

"My volunteers and I have poured blood, sweat and tears into this place. We fought to survive the recession but this has finished me off."

Miss Crane said Roobarb & Kustard will close on Saturday, September 13. A spokesman for the council said the authority had been working with Miss Crane to support the cafe during the roadworks.

He said: "We have put up signs and notices to promote the businesses in Wellington Street, provided free parking and assisted Roobarb & Kustard in applying for a reduction in business rates for the duration of the works.

"In a few weeks the re-opening of Abington Street will revitalise the area as we bring more shoppers and visitors into that part of our town centre.

"There will be new opportunities for businesses and more potential customers as footfall increases."

Miss Crane, who lives in Piddington, said she plans to try to keep the business going by setting up mobile shops at nurseries and organisations, and visiting customers' houses to do baby clay casts and prints sessions.

NEW HOME Charlie the Chimp used to entertain shoppers with his mechanical antics

Charlie the Chimp 'should be in town'

Fans of one of Northampton's most famous mascots have reacted with disappointment that he is to be placed in a museum in Watford during his retirement.

Charlie the Chimp, who is fondly remembered by many people who saw him in the window of the Gordon Scott shoe store in Abington Street during the 1980s and 90s, has resided in the Harlequin shopping centre in Watford for the past seven years.

A spokesman for Gordon

Scott said this week Charlie had now become "very dizzy" from swinging round and round and "needed a rest."

A decision has now been made to place Charlie on display in Watford Museum and he will be replaced in Watford's Gordon Scott store by his younger sibling, Champ the Chimp.

Writing on the Chronicle & Echo's Facebook page, many people said they thought Charlie should be housed in a Northampton museum, where his older brother, Alfie the Ape – who was in the Northampton store in the 1960s – currently resides.

Natasha Worster said: "It is part of Northampton's history, why on earth should he go to Watford? I remember him as a child as we always used to stop and say 'hello' and I used to do the same when my children were little. Keep Charlie in Northampton."

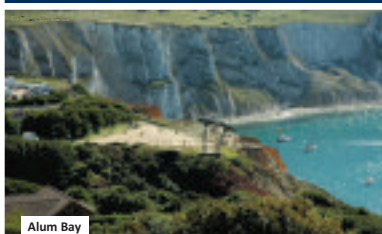

Judy Duffy said: "He should stay in Northampton. My children always used to like to see him it would be nice to show him to my grandchildren."

New development plans for arson site

NOW DEMOLISHED Wardington Court was severely damaged by a fire in January this year

New plans to redevelop the site of a former 19th century building in Northampton, that had to be demolished after it was severely damaged in an arson attack, have been submitted to the borough council.

The Wardington Court site, in Welford Road, Kingsthorpe, was targeted by arsonists in January and was demolished by developers McCarthy & Stone a month later.

A spokesman for McCarthy & Stone said the company had revised its plans for the site as a result of the arson attack and had now submitted a new proposal to Northampton Borough Council to redevelop the site into 56 assisted living apartments for pensioners. The plans also include communal facilities for residents, car parking and landscaped gardens.

McCarthy & Stone is also planning to replicate two of Wardington Court's original facades in the new building.

The apartments will be specifically designed around the needs of older residents, offering on-site care and support and promoting independent, active and healthy lifestyles.

Darren Humphreys, regional managing director at McCarthy & Stone (Midlands) said: "We were very disappointed not to be able to proceed with our original plans for this site, which had received local support.

"Our new plans have been very carefully considered and our revised design seeks to replicate two of Wardington Court's original facades which unfortunately had to be demolished due to fire damage.

"There is a considerable local need for this type of specialist Extra Care accommodation for older people. Our proposal will breathe new life into this site".

The new developments would be staffed 24 hours a day, employing an average of 17 workers, including a qualified estates manager, care workers, caterers, cleaners and gardening staff.

For more information about the plans visit www.mccarthyandstone-consultation.co.uk/wardingtoncourt or contact the project's free-phone information line on 0800 298 7040.

Demolition of bus

The demolition of the Greyfriars bus station site has been delayed by up to six months after "more asbestos than anticipated" was found in the building, the leader of Northampton Borough Council said. The borough council announced in March that it was hoping to complete the demolition of the former bus station by the end of 2014.

However, Councillor David Mackintosh said the site will now not be cleared until summer 2015 after unexpected "issues" were encountered with the structure of the building.

Councillor Mackintosh said DSM Ltd, a specialist in town centre demolitions, had now been appointed to take forward the "second phase" of the demolition work after Kier completed the internal stripping of the building.

DSM Ltd will be reviewing and considering "all demolition options" for the building during the next 12 weeks.

Councillor Mackintosh said: "It has always been very difficult to estimate how long the demolition would take. A number of issues have been

Firm has experience of 'complex demolitions'

•• The company given the contract to demolish Greyfriars bus station has previously demolished other large buildings, including Leicester City Council Offices, the City Library in Liverpool and the removal of Leith House high-rise block for Edinburgh Council.

•• A spokesman for DSM Ltd, based in Birmingham, said: "We have been working closely with Northampton Borough Council to demolish the former bus station with the minimum amount of disruption to local residents and businesses.

•• "We very much look forward to this on-going partnership in bringing this project to a successful conclusion".

encountered with the building, that was constructed in the 1970s, and we were not always sure what we were going to find in there.

"It is a massive building and we have found more asbestos than it was anticipated we would have to deal with.

"We did not have the full site plans to look at so we were relying on people's best estimates rather than facts."

Councillor Mackintosh said the possibility of road closures around the Greyfriars site during the works had been considered, but he believed they would not be needed.

He said: "We are considering all options but the default option is still brick by brick. We are taking advice every step of the way, but my first priority is public safety and I want the public to be reassured of the safety of the demolition procedure."

Residents and local businesses near Greyfriars were expected to receive letters providing details of a dedicated phone line they can call with any specific queries.

ROAD TEST – PEUGEOT 308 SW FELINE E-THP 130

Extra space is Peugeot positive

Peugeot has been very thorough in adapting its current European Car of the Year for the role of load-lugging estate.

It means the new 308 SW can stand its corner against the likes of a VW Golf, SEAT Leon or Ford Focus as family holdall with more practicality than a hatchback.

It has front and rear wheels further apart than on the hatchback, with a little of the extra room devoted to rear-seat passengers, but most of the extra space released for luggage. Ramping up the practicality quotient, the split/folding rear seats flop forward at the pull of a couple of levers in the boot sides to give a floor so near-perfectly flat you'll never notice the tiny incline, unlike the ski slope of some other estates and SUVs.

A useful added touch of practicality is the little ski hatch between the seats.

Peugeot missed a trick by not letting the front passenger seat flop forward to get the absolute most out of the space inside their new machine, but otherwise they've done a thorough job of the move from hatch to estate.

The 308 SW range starts at £16,845 for a version powered by Peugeot's new 1.2-litre engine; a three-cylinder unit chosen for its economy and the same basic design that's rapidly becoming an industry standard, and it's up there with the class best in terms of ride and ability to tackle a corner with zest and aplomb.

GENERAL VACANCIES

Do you want to make a difference?

We are the UK's leading charity for people with autism and their families. By working for us, you will be helping to change the world for people with autism by supporting people to live the life they choose. We currently have the following vacancies within our Northants Service:

Support Workers - Residential Care\Outreach

Range of full and part time hours available
£13,500 - £15,800 (depending on skills and experience)

As a Support Worker within our Residential/Outreach teams you will be supporting adults with an Autism Spectrum Condition (including Asperger's) and a variety of care and support needs, inclusive of challenging behaviour. You will support people with autism in their everyday lives to access the community, education, work and leisure activities as well as building independent living skills within their own homes. Domestic tasks, administering medication, budgeting and care planning are integral aspects of the role. You will need to work independently, as part of a team, under the direction of team leaders and managers. Employment to involve working shifts; to include evenings, weekends and bank holidays. Regular sleep ins are/may be required depending on the post as well as an expectation to accompany people on holidays and to activities.

Support Worker - Waking Nights - Residential Care, Northants Service

£13,500 - £15,800 (depending on skills and experience)

Working a shift from 9.45pm to 8am you will support adults with autism and learning difficulties in completing their evening and morning routines and will be on hand to provide full care during the night when required. Administrative and domestic tasks will also form part of this role and this individual will be required to assist with laundry and general cleaning duties.

Our services operate a shift rota system and you will be required to work some weekends, and unsociable hours including bank holidays. Enthusiasm, drive, teamwork, resilience and the desire to make a difference are all essential requirements of the post. Those with relevant experience and qualifications would be ideal, however, we offer a comprehensive training programme including qualification up to QCF Health and Social Care Level 3 award for this role.

A commitment to developing yourselves and others is key. A full driving licence is essential. Benefits include Employee Discount Scheme, Pension, Childcare vouchers and more. Visit www.autism.org.uk/working-with/work-for-us/why-work-for-us to see the full list.

All posts are subject to an enhanced disclosure. Full induction is provided followed by an extensive training programme. Generous holidays apply.

If you are flexible, passionate and feel able to commit to working in a challenging environment to achieve the very best outcomes for people with autism, please contact directly our HR Admin team on 01933 655 434 or email centralhr@nas.org.uk for an application pack.

Ma'afu wants more trophies

Salesi says Saints are aiming to improve on last season

RUGBY

Salesi Ma'afu admits he is delighted with how his first year at Saints panned out - but wants even more success this season.

The Australian prop arrived at Northampton from Western Force last summer and went on to become a cult figure at Franklin's Gardens.

He played his part in the double success, earning Amlyn Challenge Cup and Aviva Premiership winners medals.

But the 31-year-old is not content with being a one-season wonder and wants his team to kick on this time round.

"I'm very pleased with the outcome of last season," said Ma'afu. "We got two trophies and this year we'll look to do better."

"We'll look to make small improvements and look at the bigger picture to achieve a lot more than what we did."

Saints are now in the midst of their pre-season preparations as they get ready for the big Premiership kick-off against Gloucester at the Gardens on September 5.

And Ma'afu, who took time to get up to speed at Saints last season, is feeling fresh as he gets set to help inspire another title push.

"Last year was a bit tough coming off the back of Super Rugby so to finish the season on a high and have a nice break has been good," said Ma'afu.

"We've all had a few weeks to pick things up again and freshen up mentally and physically. Heading into the new season will be good."

Meanwhile, Saints director of rugby Jim Mallinder is confident Matt Williams will be back in action next month after recovering from a broken leg.

Williams impressed for Saints last season before sustaining the injury in a game against London Irish in April.

But the young hooker has been making good progress and is now back on his feet.

And Mallinder is looking forward to easing the player back into action in the A League before considering him for a return to first-team duties.

"Matt's good," said the Saints boss. "He's running round now so he probably won't be quite fit for the start of the new season, but he'll be very close. He'll probably have to play in a few A team games in September and then come back into the senior squad."

Saints enjoyed two pre-season victories at Franklin's Gardens on Saturday, first seeing off Leinster and then Moseley.

The Irish outfit were seen off 33-21 in the main event, before a more youthful side beat Moseley 42-24.

Saints go to Newport for their final pre-season friendly on Friday night.

GOAL STAR Emile Sinclair celebrates his dramatic late equaliser for the Cobblers against 10-man Shrewsbury on Saturday PICTURE: SHARON LUCEY

Sinclair looks set to stay at Sixfields

COBBLERS boss Chris Wilder has hinted that the situation with striker Emile Sinclair may have changed in light of his late equaliser against Shrewsbury on Saturday.

Sinclair was made available for loan at the back end of last week and has been the subject of interest from fellow Sky Bet League Two club Cheltenham Town.

But at the weekend he

made his first appearance of the season and scored a last-minute leveller to give Town a 1-1 draw with the Shrews.

Wilder may now give the player a reprieve - especially as his squad continues to be dogged by injuries.

"Things happen at football clubs sometimes and the picture changes," he said.

"We all want him (Sinclair) to do well but we're struggling because we're a bit threadbare at the moment and we might have to go with what we've got in those positions."

The Cobblers are at home again on Saturday.

Exeter City come to town as Wilder's men target their first Sky Bet League Two win since the opening day of the season.

Willey disappointed as one-day campaign ends

ALL-ROUNDER David Willey cut a disappointed figure in the aftermath of the Northants Steelbacks' four-wicket defeat to Essex Eagles in their final Royal London Cup game.

Willey hammered 113 in the home side's 311, which came in 47 out of the 50 overs, and he pointed to the failure to bat the overs as a turning point in the contest.

He said: "We didn't bat our overs which was costly for us, we were probably 40 short in the end and then we gave away too many extras."

"It was a bad ball (that I got out to) and I should've cleared the ropes. I'd played nice up to then and it would've been nice to bat for another four or five overs and get us up to 350."

As well as his innings, Willey picked up two for 60 from his 10 overs and he admitted that following serious back problems he's just happy to be able to play a full part.

"I'm hitting my straps again with my one-day bowling. I've struggled a bit with my shoulder which is frustrating," said Willey.

"I'm starting to get my plans together with the bowling and with the batting I'm slowly maturing the more opportunities I get."

"At the start of the season I wasn't sure if I'd bowl again it was that tough a winter for me. I'm happy to be back out there and it's taken a lot longer than I expected to be back to full fitness."

The defeat to Essex brought an end to the Steelbacks' one-day season, a campaign that has seen them miss out on qualification for the knockout stages in both the 20 and 50-over formats and Willey knows that what has been produced hasn't been good enough.

"It's been poor. We've shown glimpses of what we're capable of but we've lacked consistency with both bat and ball," he said.

"The reasons for that I don't know, but we should be competing better than that next year."
